Every year in America, more than 2.5 million children experience homelessness. The Department of Education estimates that one in 19 children will experience homelessness before entering first grade. These children are eight to nine times more likely to repeat a grade, 42% will drop out of school at some point and 47% suffer from anxiety, depression, or withdrawal. Through our innovative approach, we keep families together and serve more than 125,000 children and adults annually, and have served more than 1 million people since our founding in 1988. We envision a nation in which every family has a home, a livelihood, and the chance to build a better future.

At Family Promise, we know everyone is part of the solution to family homelessness. Corporations are vital to addressing this crisis. Our volunteer program allows employees to become part of the community that is working to end family homelessness. Our flexibility allows anyone to become involved and to have an impact.

Additionally, Family Promise can provide materials to help you share the story of your engagement and impact.

Our team will work with you to plan and implement the projects or opportunities that your company selects. The project timeline will be discussed during the initial planning stage. Family Promise offers an array of options to support your volunteers. In addition to working with you to customize your engagement, matching opportunities with your CSR priorities, we offer easy online training, a portal with your company’s branding for your employees to find volunteer opportunities, and templated materials to share about the issue and organization.

Corporate Spotlight:
IKEA & Family Promise: A Place Called Home

IKEA partnered with Family Promise to bring the multifaceted experience of home to families battling homelessness. A significant donation helped at least 30 Family Promise Affiliates establish or expand homelessness prevention and stabilization services to keep families in housing and support them once they secure housing to ensure they remain independent.

In addition, IKEA distributed product donations to support upgrades to Family Promise day centers and permanent shelter sites at ten Affiliates. IKEA employees volunteered to assemble furniture and furnish temporary housing for families experiencing homelessness. Watch a video of the makeover at Family Promise in Lawrence (KS).

IKEA believes that home is the most important place in the world. We recognize that, more than ever, many families are in crisis as the pandemic has exacerbated issues facing lower-income students and at-risk and already homeless populations. Everyone deserves a place called home
